

Abstract

5 The present invention involves a multicomponent protein microarray comprising two or more components of a protein-based system entrapped within spots of a biomolecule compatible matrix arranged on a surface. Also included are methods of using the microarray for multicomponent analysis along with kits and machinery comprising the microarray.

10